Dear Parents and Carers

Why is cooperative learning a priority at Poseidon Primary?

On a daily basis teachers and students from Kindy to Year 6 use cooperative learning strategies. This feature of our school has been developed because research indicates that when cooperative learning is implemented effectively, the following student outcomes can be achieved:

- Increased engagement in learning,
- Higher self-esteem,
- Higher achievement,
- Increased retention,
- Greater collaborative skills,
- Greater intrinsic motivation,
- Better attitudes to school, and
- Greater use of higher level reasoning.

WOW! You can see why we are focussing on cooperative approaches to learning. This term there has been a school wide focus on the strategy of ‘Inside Outside Circle’ with other strategies such as ‘Numbered Heads’, ‘Think, Pair Share’, ‘Placemat’ and ‘Quiz, Quiz Trade’ being used throughout the school.

Faction Athletics Carnival

Last Friday, in beautiful weather conditions, the school held its annual Faction Athletics Carnival. The day was superbly organised by Mrs Porro and Mr Wright with the support of the rest of the staff who had trained the students throughout the term and organised them into the various teams. It was a pleasure to see all students competing for their factions to the best of their ability, supporting each other and enjoying the day. It was a close competition all day between the three factions which in the end saw Antaeus (Red) Faction as the eventual winners. Thank you to all the parents, grandparents and friends who came along to enjoy the day and support the children. The final results and individual year level champions were:

A HUGE thank you to the P & C for providing an amazing array of food that started with bacon and egg burgers for breakfast, cakes for morning tea and a delicious sausage sizzle for lunch. The coffee machine produced great coffee that was appreciated by everyone. On their behalf, I would like to thank the school community for supporting the P & C with one another of their fantastic fundraising events for the year.

Footy Colours Day

On Thursday September 24 the Student Councillors, in conjunction with the The Canteen, are organising Footy Colours Day. There will be no other Canteen lunch orders on this day.

Year 2 Assembly Change of Date

Please be advised that Ms Kasperkiewicz’s Year 2 Assembly has been rescheduled from Friday September 25 to Friday October 16. We hope you can join us.
Our New Nature Playground Begins

All the Early Childhood students and staff have been working hard over the last weeks moving LOADS of mulch to create the beginnings of our new nature playground in the Early Years Learning Playground.

The large tree outside the Apollo Art & Music block was being cut down, so we snaffled the stumps and have made a discovery play zone.

Thank you to the Year 1 to 6 students who came in at lunch times to help, and to Mr Wright for assisting in the movement and placement of the logs.

Many thanks also to Zander Brown’s family for donating our wonderful new cubby. Thank you to Tyson Williams, Shane Dowling and Cameron Walton for dismantling, moving and reassembling the little house and more thanks to Tyson for taking extra time in making it extra safe for our kids. Lisa Gregson has volunteered to be in charge of the cubby painting and will be working with the students to create and paint some beautiful artwork. If you are able to donate any exterior paint, please drop it off with Biljana at the Kindy.

The children are guiding our staff in the creation of this interactive play zone, and we are so proud of the hard work they are doing creating opportunities together in developing the initial phase of our first nature playground.
Safety Suggestions for Students

The school has received a number of reports through our regional office in recent times of suspicious incidents that have been report by students attending northern suburb schools when either walking to or from school. To help ensure the safety of all students when travelling to and from school, I’d like to remind families each term of the simple, but important ways they should regularly discuss and reinforce with their children. Here are some simple suggestions to help children stay safe:

- Always travel in company
- Walk on the right hand side of the road so you face oncoming traffic
- Wherever possible, leave space between yourself and the roadway
- Stay in areas that are well lit
- Stay in view – avoid going into areas that are hidden from view (such as parkland bush or behind shopping centres) and plan trips to avoid such locations
- Be alert – earphones and headphones can reduce your awareness considerably
- If you have a mobile phone, have it turned on and ready to dial an emergency number
- If a passing car stops nearby never get too close
- Do not hesitate to run from a situation in which you feel at risk
- Provide this advice to brothers and sisters, especially if younger
- Report suspicious behaviour to parents, school and the police, noting number plates of cars and/or clothing or distinguishing features of individuals.

Police Information - for students to take care when going to and from school, and to report anything suspicious to parents, school and the police – call 000 in an emergency or 1800 333 000 to reach Crime Stoppers.

How to raise a child to be a giver

Michael Grose highlights why it is so important to teach your child to be a giver not a taker, and gives five practical ways to develop a sense of generosity in kids.

Young children are egocentric by nature. As any three-year old knows only too well the world revolves around them. "I want..." "Give me..." "It's mine!" and other variations are the mantras for this age group. This self-centredness is developmental, which means its something they grow out of...or they're supposed to.

But some kids never bridge the gap from self-centredness to generosity. They become takers with an inflated sense of entitlement rather than givers who do all they can to accommodate the needs of others. While it can be argued that some children maybe self-centred by temperament I'm not convinced that we can blame Mother Nature entirely.

There is no doubt that parenting impacts enormously on a child's propensity to give rather than take.

In the eagerness to get kids off to a good start in life, a spirit of generosity is one quality that parents can easily overlook. Developing children's personal competencies tends to be higher on most parents' wish lists for their kids than developing a generous spirit.

But developing a sense of sharing in kids has plenty of positives. Children who are able to share their time, their space and themselves generally have more friends and experience more success than those who are self-centred and mean-spirited. Quite simply, they are leadership material!

Like most facets of child rearing developing a community ethos in kids can be a frustrating task but perseverance, modeling and expectations are parents' greatest allies when it comes to things that really matter.

Here are five practical ways to develop a sense of generosity in kids:

1. Expect kids to help
With families shrinking, kids get fewer opportunities to help at home than before. With this in mind expect your kids to help without being paid. Regular chores and activities that benefit others such as setting the meal table or helping a younger sibling get dressed teaches them that their contribution is valuable and very much required.

2. Think 'gang'
It's a quirk of modern life that parenting is an individual endeavour. "What's in the best interest of my child?" has replaced "What's in the best interest of the family?" as a key parenting principle. Encourage children to make allowances for each other which may mean everyone watches a sibling's special concert rather than some children missing it because 'it's boring!' 'We put ourselves out for each other' is a wonderful family strength that often needs to be reinforced by parents.

3. Don't let them get away with meanness
Children wear L-Plates when it comes to behaving generously. They don't always get it right, which means that parents as the wise adults need to remind children when their words and actions are intolerant or mean-spirited, or when they need to put their own needs behind the needs of others.

... How to raise a child to be a giver ...

4 Develop a sense of other

Children and teenagers don’t live in a bubble. The socialisation process demands that kids be accountable for their poor behaviours. “What does this social situation reasonably require of my child at his or her age and stage of development?” is a great question to ask yourself to develop a sense of other, rather than entitlement in kids.

5 Encourage giving

During the Victorian bushfires a few years ago I heard the story of a nine-year old whose mum went into his bedroom to growl at him for being up too late. She found him busy emptying his moneybox into little plastic bags, ready to donate at the school bushfire appeal next day. There were plenty of stories like this showing the generosity of Australian kids, we just need to encourage them in everyday life, rather than wait for a tragedy, to give their generosity a kick start. You can begin by encouraging them to give toys, books and clothes away when they have finished with them, or doing a good deed by a neighbor or friend.

The skills that kids need for future success are changing as technology, greater flexibility and mobility, and new economic forces are transforming workplaces at an astonishingly rapid rate. But the basic attitudes and character traits needed to succeed such as teamwork, initiative and generosity haven’t changed too much over time. Ask any employer and I’m sure they’d say they’d hire a giver over a taker any day as they are just so valuable to have on a team. Hopefully they are not becoming a rarity as well!

Michael Grose
